

Williams College Department of Music

Annika Harrington '23, flute

Henri Dutilleux (1916 – 2013)

Sonatine for flute and piano

Timothy Dunne, piano

Sergei Prokofiev (1891 – 21953)

Sonata for flute and piano

I. Moderato

III. Andante

IV. Allegro con Brio

Timothy Dunne, piano

Ian Clarke (b. 1969)

Maya

Annika Harrington '23, Kajsia Harrington, flutes; Sarah Shi '23, piano

In memory of Polly Harrington

Eric Ewzen (b. 1954)

Ballade, Pastorale, and Dance

I. Ballade

II. Pastorale

III. Dance

Annika Harrington '23, flute; Samantha Strickland '26, horn; Paul Kim '24, piano

Friday, April 28, 2023

6:00 p.m.

*Brooks-Rogers Recital Hall
Williamstown, Massachusetts*

*Please turn off cell phones.
No photography or recording is permitted.*

Annika Harrington '23 is a history and environmental studies major from Needham, MA. She started playing flute at age six and occasionally dabbles in bassoon. Currently a student of Jackie DeVoe, Annika has also studied with Kim Lorimer and Judy Grant. She has played in the Rivers Conservatory Youth Symphony and Wind Ensemble, the Noble and Greenough Symphony and Wind Ensemble, and was a member of the Boston Flute Academy for four years. She also attended the Kinhaven School of Music for several summers, where she had her first experience playing in a symphony and small chamber groups and immediately fell in love with both. At Williams, Annika has played flute and piccolo in the Berkshire Symphony since freshman year. She has also played in several smaller groups on campus and in the IO Fest. Aside from playing flute, Annika also captains the ultimate frisbee team and enjoys game nights with friends and family. She wants to express incredible thanks to her wonderful teacher, Jackie, her incredibly supportive friends, and her loving family.