Daniel Schreiner '14, bio

Daniel Schreiner began playing piano at the age of 7. A resident of Winston-Salem, NC, he studied with Lisa Duerr at the North Carolina School of the Arts' Community Music School in Winston-Salem and currently studies with Elizabeth Wright at Williams College. Daniel performs solo repertoire frequently, participates in a chamber trio, and accompanies his peers in other performances at and around Williams. He was a past winner of the Berkshire Soloist Competition and performed at Washington, DC's Kennedy Center as a finalist of the Eastern Music Festival's Piano Competition. Daniel is majoring in music with a performance thesis; in his free time he enjoys making visual art, exercising occasionally, reading biographies of the Beatles, and wasting time with friends. He will attend Mannes's International Keyboard Institute and Festival this summer and plans to audition for music graduate conservatories this coming December.
