This ensemble allows a nurturing environment for students to experience improvisation in a small jazz group setting and to develop the skills needed to express their thoughts through the complex medium of small group performance.

The art of improvisation takes years of study, trial and error, and performance experience. This along with dedication, hard work, and the knowledge of jazz harmony will provide the skills needed to successfully negotiate chord changes.

I hope you will kindly welcome our sextet of jazz new-comers with warmth and enthusiasm, as the beginning stages of improvising through live performance are often the most challenging for an instrumentalist.
